

President's Message

IN MEMORIAM

The tragic loss of Robert J. Lyman is a hard blow to the industry which he led. His zeal for prestressed concrete since the early days when it first appeared on the American scene is stilled. His boundless energy in being at the epicenter of all activities pertaining to prestressed concrete is at rest. His competent execution of the many Institute programs during nearly five years at the helm is terminated.

The mark of his success is certainly in the giant strides the industry made during his leadership but, more importantly, in the love, honor and respect he earned from his fellow prestressers. The direction and progress of our great and growing industry remain true as a testimonial to the honesty, competence, zeal and energy of our good friend and associate of many years.

—Charles L. Scott, Jr.

see page 95